Three-dimensional manual dies are a super fun way to add depth and delight to your paper crafts!

We scouted out four 3D dies from Echo Park Paper, Pink & Main, Honey Bee Stamps, and Lawn Fawn that we know you will love. Let's check out some clever and cute ways to feature them!

1 SWEET PEA 3D FLOWER BY ECHO PARK PAPER

While sweet peas tend to bloom in the early to mid-summer, the Sweet Pea 3D die from Echo Park Paper can create beautiful blooms no matter the season! Cardstock, patterned papers, and other die cut-able options allow you to make one-of-a-kind blooms. You can find more 3D dies to spark your creativity at echoparkpaper.com

3D TIP: Layer it up. Michelle used the three dies that are a part of this set to bring her sweet pea to life in a festive Christmas manner by using patterned papers and some red tinsel in the center.

CAMP TRAILER CARD BY HONEY BEE STAMPS

Even if you're more of a hotel kind of person, this is the kind of camper you can get behind! Bobbi made the absolute cutest 3D design using the Camp Trailer Card die from Honey Bee Stamps. Honey Bee features many clever Honey Cuts in their store including a house builder, a crayon box, and a record player die. Find out more at honeybeestamps.com

3D TIP: Make it sturdy. Bobbi built the trailer around a small business card-sized clear box to reinforce her darling paper creation. Take care to make things secure and you can bring out this adorable design each February!

3D TIP: Consider the angles. Even the inside looks cute with coordinating patterned papers. Since it's 3D, you'll probably be looking at it from many sides!
