We love these cute and quirky photos of curious kids using their Papi's magnifying glass! The bold and clever title in a large arc sets the scene for Betsy's cheerful layout. The cloud patterned paper with the peeking sun and cloud are just perfect. When taking photos of children, don't hesitate to use a prop—you are sure to get adorable and hilarious results!

Shake things up with a mini slimline shaker card filled with pretty sequins! Theory blended a beautiful background and trapped the sequin assortment behind acetate and a delicate floral die cut. The metallic hey looks whimsical and fun like the rest of the card!

Life can throw some curveballs, but sometimes sad reasons bringing people together can lead to some happy moments. Youngmi celebrates this togetherness in her lovely 8½ x 11 layout with two precious group photos. There's a beautiful sweetness and reserve in this layout that is fitting for a special moment during a rough patch of life.

Celebrate the new Mr. and Mrs. with a handmade card! We papercrafters know how our creations mean so much to the recipients, so just imagine the newlyweds' delight when they open a pretty card like the one Sara made. Draw inspiration from their wedding invitation for colour choices and style and make something they won't ever throw away!

Gloria's double-page spread is super inspiring! Look closely and you will see the left-hand side is a traditional layout while the right is a pocket page. Such a wonderful way to mix things up in a seamless way. The colour scheme plays so well with the photos, and the handwritten journaling captures the memories!

Brighten a birthday with a gorgeous floral design! BreAnn paired a graphic background with a beautiful bouquet for a delightful juxtaposition of loveliness. The blues of the background and sentiment really allow the pink florals to steal the show.

Creating layouts about yourself isn't always easy, so we adore this inspiration from Nicole Martel! The main thing you see when you look at the layout is the commanding title, and it's on this standout that the rest of the layout comes alive. A cool array of ephemera arranged behind the title takes the eye to the photo and a brief bit of journaling captures the date and a few details.

Peaches, parents, and patterned paper are a winning combination on this wonderful submission from Becky Powell Reames! Peaches from Georgia arrived, and Becky went straight to Mom and Dad's house to share the wealth. We love the beautiful design with patterned hexagons bringing it all together, and we can't get over the awesome picture of Becky's delighted parents.

When a trip to the strawberry field turns into a beautiful distraction, you go with it! Katie noticed lots of pretty wildflowers in the field and decided to pick a bouquet for herself. We love how the elements on the page that Jenny created feel like a wildflower field with buzzing bees and beautiful blooms.

Quick! You need to emulate this layout STAT!

Whether you've been to Estes Park, CO, or not, the basic sketch of the layout could be your new go-to design. Three photos (one with people and two with scenery), a title, and patterned tags to balance the layout make this a beautiful design with super solid bones for building a great travel layout!

Nothing says summer more than a photo shoot on the beach and a sassy flamingo! We love this summer-infused layout by Andrea filled with magical moments to be remembered forever. We love the splashes of aqua over the background—it's like the ocean is splashing onto the page!

Doing Disney is always layout-worthy! Rebeca's family visited Walt Disney World in Florida and the magic was real. She just knew that Doodlebug Design's Fun at the Park collection would do the trip justice. Her typewritten journaling looks so neat with this linear design.

Summertime swim sessions are made even more fun when they're a chance to strengthen family bonds.

Junell's cool coloured blocks create a perfect pool vibe and the circular photos and elements on top of them soften the lines of the squares. And just LOOK at that amazing swash of stars from the bottom to the top! It looks like bubbles floating to the surface of the water!

The bright blue and yellow of this card paired with the bold and beautiful sunflowers tug at our hearts. The sturdy sunflower exudes strength and is the perfect pairing for this sentiment. This colour scheme and sunflowers have made quite a splash in 2022 as card makers around the world rose in support of Ukraine. Well done, Tasha!
